My dear people of God, today, the readings remind us that God’s call to a person and the positive response to that call leads the person to discipleship. God chooses each one according to His own criteria for a specific mission. It is personal deception to think your God has not called you to do something.

The God who called Isaiah, Paul, Peter, etc., continues to call people even in our time. The problem with this age is that we have become so absorbed with self and the external realities of the modern world that we have lost that interior communion with God who speaks to our heart calling us daily. When we relate closely with God in the solitude and silence of interior life then we can hear and discern what He calls us to do.

What is God’s criteria for calling people to serve and how does one qualify? God does not look at the external features of a person or is He concerned about the qualification or skill. Without favoritism or prejudice, God extends His call equally to everyone. His criteria seem to be His trust that you can do it because He provides whatever is needed to accomplish the mission. But do we respond positively to God’s call?

Trust in the Lord gives the way for true discipleship.

Dear Friends, my holidays are over and I will be with you all soon.

Fr. Antony Joseph

You placed your life and your trust in Divine Providence and, for spreading the faith, merited the crown of martyrdom. In a world that denies the dignity of the human person, obtain for us from Divine Providence an ever increasing love of God and our neighbor, especially the poor and oppressed. Obtain for us also the favor we are now asking for [mention request] and the grace and strength to be a witness to Christ's love to all. Amen." Imprimatur: +William Patrick Callahan, OFM Conv., Bishop of La Crosse—February 7, 2020
